

An objective method to measure and evaluate the quality of sanded wood surfaces

☐ Search within citing articles

Analysis of sanding parameters on surface properties Coating performance of red oak wood

B Ugulino, RE Hernández - Wood Material Science & Engineering, 2018 - Taylor & Francis

Sanding is the most common machining process used to prepare wood surfaces prior to coating. Hence, to improve surface quality and coating performance during this process, an optimal set of machining parameters should be established according to wood species and ...

☆  Cited by 3 Related articles All 2 versions